

VALUES TO LIVE BY

Empathy: “We disagree with the idea of ‘treating others how you’d like you be treated.’ Instead, we have learned that it’s better to treat others how they’d like to be treated. To know that, we must first build those authentic and trusting relationships.”

Respect: “If you know them well enough you will respect the families in all ways: their culture, their beliefs, their traditions, their manners, their religion, etc. Respect opens a door of trust.”

Relationship & Trust: “Because we come from a similar background, language and culture as the families, we are one of them. We’ve overcome those same barriers, then we believe in the potential of each of the families. We have the same kind of dreams, challenges, culture, language, and barriers, they know that we want the best for all of us and they are part of us.”

Authenticity: “Be who you are. Then families can be who they are.”

Justice: “Align yourself with those whose voices are not heard or listened to. Everyone has a voice; some times there’s only space for some. Create the space.”

Equity: “All families deserve what they need to thrive. Many families at La Casa do not have access to what they need. We educate others on racial equity and operationalize it.”

Me gusta La Casa Hogar porque nos abre las puertas para aprender, estudiar y seguir nuestras metas y sueños. Estoy muy agradecida con La Casa Hogar.

I like La Casa Hogar because it opens the doors for us to learn, study and pursue our goals and dreams. I am very grateful to La Casa Hogar.
